

GCSE MARKING SCHEME

SUMMER 2022

GCSE (NEW)
RELIGIOUS STUDIES
UNIT 2: CHRISTIANITY & ISLAM
3120U20-1

INTRODUCTION

This marking scheme was used by WJEC for the 2022 examination. It was finalised after detailed discussion at examiners' conferences by all the examiners involved in the assessment. The conference was held shortly after the paper was taken so that reference could be made to the full range of candidates' responses, with photocopied scripts forming the basis of discussion. The aim of the conference was to ensure that the marking scheme was interpreted and applied in the same way by all examiners.

It is hoped that this information will be of assistance to centres but it is recognised at the same time that, without the benefit of participation in the examiners' conference, teachers may have different views on certain matters of detail or interpretation.

WJEC regrets that it cannot enter into any discussion or correspondence about this marking scheme.

WJEC GCSE RELIGIOUS STUDIES

UNIT 2: ISLAM

MARK SCHEME SUMMER 2022

General Marking Instructions for Examiners

The mark scheme defines what can be reasonably expected of a candidate in response to questions asked.

1. Positive marking

It should be remembered that candidates are writing under examination conditions and credit should be given for what the candidate writes, rather than adopting the approach of penalising him/her for any omissions. It should be possible for a very good response to achieve full marks and a very poor one to achieve zero marks. Marks should not be deducted for a less than perfect answer if it satisfies the criteria of the mark scheme.

2. Banded mark schemes

Banded mark schemes are divided so that each band has a relevant descriptor. The descriptor for the band provides a description of the performance level for that band. Each band contains a range of marks.

3. Two-mark questions

Banded mark schemes are not suitable for low tariff questions. Instructions for the awarding of marks are given with the indicative content.

Using the banded mark scheme

Stage 1 – Deciding on the band

When deciding on a band, the answer should be viewed holistically. Beginning at the lowest band, examiners should look at the candidate's answer and check whether it matches the descriptor for that band. If the descriptor at the lowest band is satisfied, examiners should move up to the next band and repeat this process for each band until the descriptor matches the answer.

If an answer covers different aspects of different bands within the mark scheme, a 'best fit' approach should be adopted to decide on the band and then the candidate's response should be used to decide on the mark within the band. For instance if a response is mainly in band 2 but with a limited amount of band 3 content, the answer would be placed in band 2, but the mark awarded would be close to the top of band 2 as a result of the band 3 content.

Stage 2 – Deciding on the mark

Once the band has been decided, examiners can then assign a mark. During standardising (marking conference), detailed advice from the Principal Examiner on the qualities of each mark band will be given. Examiners will then receive examples of answers in each mark band that have been awarded a mark by the Principal Examiner. Examiners should mark the examples and compare their marks with those of the Principal Examiner.

Indicative content is also provided for banded mark schemes. Indicative content is not exhaustive, and any other valid points must be credited. In order to reach the highest bands of the mark scheme a candidate need not cover all of the points mentioned in the indicative content but must meet the requirements of the highest mark band. Where a response is not creditworthy, that is contains nothing of any significance to the mark scheme, or where no response has been provided, no marks should be awarded.

For questions which require candidates to consider two separate aspects, if the candidate only considers one, marking using the banded descriptions and then halve the mark.

Assessment Objectives

The questions test the candidate's ability to:

- AO1 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion and belief*, including:
 - belief, practices and sources of authority
 - influence on individuals, communities and societies
 - similarities and differences within and/or between religions and belief

- AO2 Analyse and evaluate aspects of religion and belief*, including their significance and influence

* The term 'belief' includes religious and non-religious belief as appropriate to the subject content requirements.

PART A

QUESTION 1: CORE BELIEFS, TEACHINGS AND PRACTICES – CHRISTIANITY

Please note: the mark scheme is not a checklist. Other valid points must be credited.

For all (a) questions:

- An accurate definition of the word, as it is used in the specification – 2 marks
- If the definition is accurate, an example is not necessary for 2 marks.
- If there is no definition, or an inaccurate definition, but an appropriate example is given, 1 mark.
- The definition does not have to be the official definition given in the Eduqas/WJEC 'Key Concepts' resource.

(a) What do Christians mean by 'vows '? [2]

- Promises, which can be between people and with God.
- Promises made by the husband and wife at a wedding ceremony.

Refer to the marking bands for question (b).

(b) Describe Christian teachings about the Bible. [5]

- It is the Word of God (Deuteronomy 4:1-2).
- It is sacred scripture.
- It is God-breathed, divinely inspired (2 Timothy 3:16-17).
- It is authoritative.
- Not to be added to, taken away from (Deuteronomy 4:1-2).
- It is the most complete revelation of God.
- It contains God's laws (Deuteronomy 4:1-2).
- God speaks through its words.
- It is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting, training in righteousness (2 Timothy 3:16-17).
- It equips the believer for good works (2 Timothy 3:16-17).
- Some teach that it is a text book for the Christian Faith.
- Some teach that it is a test book to maintain orthodoxy.
- Some take a liberal view, teaching that it is a receptacle of both God's words and the ideas of wise people of the past.

Where appropriate, relevant references are likely to include:

- Deuteronomy 4:1-2

Now, Israel, hear the decrees and laws I am about to teach you. Follow them so that you may live and may go in and take possession of the land the LORD, the God of your ancestors, is giving you.

Do not add to what I command you and do not subtract from it, but keep the commands of the LORD your God that I give you.

- 2 Timothy 3:16-17

All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the servant of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work.

Refer to the marking bands for question (c).

(c) Explain why the Eucharist/Communion is important to Christians. [8]

- Because it is a sacrament.
- Because it was commanded by Christ, 'Do this in remembrance of me' (1 Corinthians 11:23-26)
- Because the apostle Paul said it was received by him, from God (1 Corinthians 11:23-26).
- Because it symbolises the core of Christian belief, Christ's death for mankind's sin.
- Because it remembers the Last Supper.
- Because the bread and wine represent Christ's body and blood.
- Because of the Catholic teaching of transubstantiation, the true presence of Christ in the elements.
- Because others believe it is a symbolic act, using emblems of Christ's sacrifice.
- Because in this rite, believers receive Christ.
- Because it proclaims personal commitment to Christ.
- Because it personalises Christ's sacrifice.
- Because it demonstrates the fellowship of the Christian Church.
- Because it proclaims the new covenant (1 Corinthians 11:23-26).
- Because it proclaims the Lord's death until his return (1 Corinthians 11:23-26).

Where appropriate, relevant references are likely to include:

- 1 Corinthians 11:23-26

For I received from the Lord what I also passed on to you: The Lord Jesus, on the night he was betrayed, took bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and said, "This is my body, which is for you; do this in remembrance of me."

In the same way, after supper he took the cup, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood; do this, whenever you drink it, in remembrance of me." For whenever you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord's death until he comes.

Refer to the marking bands for question (d).

(d) 'Pilgrimage is the most important Christian practice.'

Discuss this statement showing that you have considered more than one point of view. (You must refer to religion and belief in your answer.) [15]

Where appropriate, relevant references are likely to include:

- Pilgrimage shows great commitment to God.
- It is a sacrifice of both time and money.
- Going on pilgrimage can bring greater commitment to God.
- To visit the significant sites of Jesus' life (Bethlehem, Birth; Jerusalem, Crucifixion and Resurrection) can be a powerful spiritual experience.
- Believers can walk in Jesus' footsteps.
- It can bring a believer closer to God.
- They can connect with the origins of the Faith.
- It can bring the Bible stories to life.
- It can be done as a penance.
- They will learn more about their Faith.
- It can greatly strengthen their faith.
- They can celebrate Christmas and Easter in the original places.
- They can connect with other believers from around the world.
- They can seek/receive healing, e.g. Lourdes, Holywell.
- Accept reasons relating to any place of Christian pilgrimage.
- It can't be most important because, whilst some denominations place importance on it (e.g. Catholic), many see it as a personal choice and more of a special holiday, helpful but not vital.
- It has lost its importance from previous centuries.
- It is expensive, so not every believer is able to do it.
- Something which favours the wealthy cannot be the most important practice.
- The money could be better spent in charitable works.
- Pilgrimage is not commanded in Christianity.
- Other things are commanded, e.g. love your neighbour, take communion, the Great Commission/make disciples/evangelise.
- God is omnipresent, so he can be encountered anywhere.
- It is more important to serve God where you are.
- The most important 'pilgrimage' for a Christian is the life journey with God, in comparison with which a journey to a special place is of little importance.

(c) Explain Muslim beliefs about heaven. [8]

- Muslims believe in life after death.
- Belief in heaven is part of akhirah (Muslim beliefs about an afterlife).
- Muslims who successfully cross the Bridge of As-Sirat will arrive at heaven (janna).
- Believers will be greeted by angels.
- Muslims describe heaven as paradise.
- The physical description of heaven includes beautiful gardens, flowing waters, and an abundance of food.
- Muslims believe heaven has a number of levels or stages in closeness to the Throne of God.
- There are different interpretations of the number of levels; some texts state there are seven levels while some Muslims believe there are many more.
- Heaven is a reward for those who have lived good and moral lives, been faithful and devout in their religious duties, and turned away from evil.
- Heaven is an eternal place where the faithful will live for ever.

Relevant references are likely to include:

- Qur'an 3: 15 'Say: Shall I give you glad tidings of things Far better than those? For the righteous are Gardens in nearness to their Lord... and the good pleasure of Allah. For in Allah's sight are (all) His servants.'
- Qur'an 5:119 'Allah will say: This is a day in which the truthful will profit from their truth. Theirs are gardens, with rivers flowing beneath - their eternal Home. Allah is well-pleased with them, and they with Allah. That is the great salvation.'

Refer to the marking bands for question (d).

(d) 'Muslim dress customs are not important.'

Discuss this statement showing that you have considered more than one point of view. (You must refer to religion and belief in your answer.)[15]

- Muslim dress customs help give Muslims a sense of duty.
- Muslim dress customs are no longer important and are out of date.
- Muslim dress customs support the idea of 'modesty' in Muslim lifestyle.
- Muslim dress customs are even more important in contemporary society than in the past.
- Muslim dress customs for women are more important to preserve modesty.
- The focus of the teaching in the Qur'an is on modesty with little practical detail.
- Muslim dress customs may lead to stereotyping and prejudice.
- Muslim dress customs are often cultural rather than religious.
- Women vary in their approach to wearing hijab, kameez, and niqab and these approaches vary from country to country.
- In Wales and elsewhere some Muslims do not wear any distinctive dress.
- Muslim dress customs may bring Muslims into conflict in some countries with the law.

- A unit that obeys religious teachings, e.g. in Islam the Qur'an teaches that children should care for their parents.
- A unit that fulfills religious duties.
- A unit in which to raise children.
- Specific reference might be made to extended and nuclear families.

Refer to the marking bands for question (c).

(c) Explain, from Christianity and Islam attitudes towards divorce. [8]

Christianity

- There is a diversity of beliefs within Christianity which often depends upon the situation and interpretation of scriptures.
- Divorce is accepted as a legal ending of a marriage but it should be considered as a last resort.
- Reconciliation should be tried.
- Teachings from Matthew 19:8-9 are often interpreted to mean that divorces can only take place in cases of adultery.
- Many Christians interpret Mark 10.7- 9 to mean that as God has joined couples together they shouldn't separate. 'Therefore, what God has joined together let no man separate.'
- 'For this reason a man will leave his mother and father and be united with his wife.'
- Anglicans accept divorce.
- Marriage is considered a sacrament by some Christians and cannot be dissolved unless an annulment process takes place.
- The Catholic Church does not recognise divorce but when there is no reconciliation either annulment or separation can result.

Islam

- There is a diversity of beliefs within Islam which often depends upon the situation and interpretation of scriptures.
- Divorce is always a last resort.
- Rather than divorce Muslims should try reconciliation with the community or extended family helping.
- The Qur'an (4.35) teaches that God can play a role in the reconciliation. 'Send an arbitrator from his people and an arbitrator from her people'.
- If attempts at reconciliation fail then there is an iddah (waiting period) of about three months takes place.
- Couples can apply to Shariah councils to obtain a divorce. This is in addition to civil divorces.
- The Qur'an teaches (2.229) that the divorced woman should be well treated.
- The Hadith states that divorce is the most hated thing by Allah.

Refer to the marking bands for question (d).

(d) 'Religious believers should never use contraception.'

Discuss this statement showing that you have considered more than one point of view. (You must refer to religion and belief in your answer.) [15]

- Importance of obeying religious duties
- People were given free will to make their own choices.
- God is creator and so all creation is his will.
- Differences in attitudes between artificial and natural contraceptives.
- Some contraceptives are not allowed
- Importance of celibacy and chastity.
- Many religions consider it a duty to create a family.
- Interpretation of religious scriptures, e.g. God ordered and be fruitful and multiply.
- Contraceptives regulates birth control and ensures all children are wanted.
- Contraceptives are allowed by most religious traditions if the woman's life is at risk if she became pregnant.
- Consideration of the ethical theory - Natural Law states that a primary precept is the continuation of species through reproduction.
- Important for both partners to agree if contraception is to be used.

PART B

QUESTION 4: RELIGIOUS RESPONSES TO ETHICAL THEMES

HUMAN RIGHTS

Please note: the mark scheme is not a checklist. Other valid points must be credited.

For all (a) questions:

- An accurate definition of the word – 2 marks
- If the definition is accurate, an example is not necessary for 2 marks.
- If there is no definition, or an inaccurate definition, but an appropriate example is given, 1 mark.

- To stop people from being wrongly influenced.
- Some people are vulnerable and need to be protect.

Refer to the marking bands for question (c).

(c) Explain from Christianity and Islam attitudes to wealth.

[8]

Christianity

- There is a diversity of attitudes within Christianity which often depends upon the situation and interpretation of scriptures.
- There are ethical considerations regarding how wealth is gained and used. e.g. are people being exploited?
- Some Christians, e.g. Methodists and Society of Friends, are against gaining or spending money through gambling.
- Some Christians consider it important to tithe money to church collections or to support charities.
- Jesus taught that money doesn't necessarily make people happy.
- Matthew chapter 6 teaches that money should not be worshipped as God.
- Some Christians take vows of poverty reflecting Jesus's order to the rich young ruler to sell his possessions and give his money to the poor.
- Teachings of Jesus such as the Rich Man and Lazarus and The Parable of the Sheep and Goats shows how important it is to care for the poor.

Islam

- There is a diversity of attitudes within Islam which often depends upon the situation and interpretation of scriptures.
- There are ethical considerations regarding how wealth is gained and used. e.g. are people being exploited?
- All wealth is seen as a gift from God.
- Many Muslims believe they will be judged by God regarding their gaining of money.
- Money should not be gained or used through gambling as taught in the Qur'an 5.90. 'Gambling is the work of Satan'.
- Interest (riba) should not be gained through wealth.

Refer to the marking bands for question (d).

(d) 'Religious believers should do more to encourage human rights.'

Discuss this statement showing that you have considered more than one point of view. (You must refer to religion and belief in your answer.) [15]

- It is not just the concern of religious believers but of everyone, e.g. Humanists.
- Some religious practices are contradictory to human rights, e.g. some religious teachings on homosexuality.
- Religions do promote human rights in a number of ways such as the work of charities, e.g. Catholic Association of Racial Justice.
- Many religious leaders taught the importance of actively supporting rights of the individual, e.g. Jesus's ministry to the lepers.
- Many human rights leaders have been inspired by their religious beliefs, e.g. Martin Luther King; Malcolm X.
- It depends what is meant by 'promote' as many religions would not support violent action.
- Human rights are universal moral rights so people of all religions and none should actively promote human rights.
- Religions all teach about the dignity of human life which reflects the first article of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
- Religions teach that mankind was made in God's image, e.g. 1 Genesis 26-27, so protecting human rights could be considered a duty.
- The practice and examples of Christian Agape.
- The actions of Liberation Theology, e.g. Saint Oscar Romero speaking against the government.
- Having a religious faith means that you should put the beliefs and teachings in action.
- Religion is not about world events but worship.
- The importance of recognising shared humanity, e.g. community, Christian Fellowship, ummah
- Teachings that all are equal, e.g. Galatians 3:27-29: 'There is neither Jew nor Gentile'
